

Moniker

Name objects that can be recognized by AppleScript

Moniker adds a palette to QuarkXPress that allows you name objects that can be recognized by AppleScript. With Moniker, you can reference the objects by name. Nothing can be easier for applying AppleScript names.

When AppleScript recognizable names are attached to object within QuarkXPress, the objects can be directly referenced by name by AppleScript and other format conversion applications, as well as, some automatic page layout programs.
