

Notes Manager

Making the best use of Inline Notes in Adobe InDesign und Adobe InCopy.

The vjoon Notes Manager plug-in will totally change the way you work with inline notes in Adobe InDesign and Adobe InCopy. Editorial staff will communicate more efficiently using notes, as displaying and navigating notes is made easier and faster.

The standard InDesign and InCopy notes feature enables users to create and edit inline notes for their own reference or in order to exchange information with other users. The Adobe notes palette displays one note at a time and allows the user to browse notes in the order in which they appear in the text.

vjoon Notes Manager enhances this functionality with its own palette. vjoon Notes Manager offers filters for displaying notes created by a specific user, or notes edited within a certain timeframe. Search results can be sorted in multiple steps by author, note content, date of creation and date of last modification, offering a quick overview of all relevant notes. You can see at a glance, for example, what notes your co-worker added to the file the previous day. In addition, you can hide all non-editable notes in the document to have a better overview of the notes belonging to text frames you are allowed to edit.

What is more, Notes Manager also makes it easier to navigate within the document. Clicking on an entry in the Notes Manager palette selects the corresponding notes anchor on the page and vice versa. Double clicking an entry in the Notes Manager palette will open the standard Adobe notes palette where you can edit or delete the note, or convert it to text.

In an editorial environment, where several people collaborate on the same text over time, Notes Manager will quickly become an indispensable tool for reliably and efficiently exchanging suggestions and instructions.
