

Archiver HTML

Converts QuarkXPress documents to HTML

Archiver HTML extracts text from one QuarkXPress document at a time to create HTML files, ASCII files, or both at the same time. Extracted text files and HTML files are placed in their own specified folder. Extracted files can include a wide range of header information. A preamble and postamble file can be included in the HTML file to add a background image or color, company logo, etc., so the HTML file is complete straight out of Archiver HTML.
