

Product integration - added value for our customers

It doesn't make any difference, which software or publishing system is in your company's use, we integrate single software modules as well as complete new publishing systems in your existing IT-environment.

In order to realize the "added value through integration" for your company right away, we control the functionality of your new system in extensive tests. Thus all bugs can be eliminated in the very beginning and your new system solution will work smoothly.

You can find an overview of our previous and current projects right here.

