

Workflowanalysis - establishing a better organization...

In order to get an overview of the “workflow status quo” of our customers, CoDesCo does an extensive analysis of the existing operating processes and of the hard- and software systems in the very beginning of collaboration.

Starting with a target-performance comparison, we have the goal to first identify and then optimize weaknesses of our customer's current systems. In order to find more efficient solutions for our customers we try to eliminate unnecessary working procedures.

